REPORT OF THE PLANNING BOARD

In 1970 the Planning Board held regular monthly meetings and several special meetings to review land use and new subdivisions.

Initial planning was begun for revising the current subdivisions regulations.

While generally .pleased with Hampstead development, the Planning Board feels that current zoning law violations are detrimental to the town. We have repeatedly requested more vigorous enforcement of existing zoning laws.

The Board has attended meetings of the Southern Rockingham Regional Planning District Commission. This commission is engaged in planning for regional development and services in the towns of Windham, Salem, Atkinson, Plaistow, Newton, Kingston, Hampstead, Sandown and Danville. The purposes are twofold: to economically provide for planning community services such as sewerage, water and trash disposal; and it is the only way through which federal funds may be received for these projects. The Planning Board recommends that Hampstead join the Southern Rockingham Regional Planning District Commission.

Respectfully submitted,

L. CHASE, Chairman

POLICE DEPARTMENT

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I submit my first report as Police Chief to the residents of the Town of Hampstead.

The greatest number of calls received by us are relative to dogs. Residents are reminded that the town has a "leash law" stating that during the summer months dogs must be restrained twenty four hours a day, seven days a week and the remaineder of the year 8 AM - 5 PM on week-days. This department asks for the cooperation of all dog owners in complying with this law.

The department investigated eleven house breaks during the past year. Citizens are urged to take all necessary precautions when leaving their homes to help guard against burglaries. It is also advisable to call us if you intend to be away for an extended length of time. All persons are requested to call us at any time should any vehicles with occupants acting suspicious or any supposed door to door salesman without necessary credentials be observed.

We investigated sixty seven motor vehicle accidents and although a great amount of property damage was incurred, serious injuries were at a minimum.

To my officers who through their untiring efforts and fullest cooperation, to their wives for their understanding and patience, to the Blue Phone operators for their twenty four hour service, to the Selectmen and other Town Officers for their help and suggestions I give my utmost thanks for making my year as Police Chief most gratifying.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM J. LETOILE, JR.
Chief of Police

ANNUAL REPORT
FIRE DEPARTMENT
1970

The year 1970 was a good year as far as fire calls received, with a total of twenty three (23) fires. Five (5) dwellings, eight (8) woods and grass, and the rest miscellaneous. Two summer cottages were of total loss upon arrival, which emphasizes the importance of reporting a fire or possible fire immediately.

The department installed a combination hose and training tower this year which our training officer has put to good use.

Twelve members of the department attended the Annual State Fire Schools in Fitzwilliams, N.H. which is sponsored by the Fire Chiefs Club of N.H.

The department purchased a generator and flood lights, along with two Scott air pacs and other needed equipment which we believe means exceptional added fire protection.

Set up this year was a stand by crew for each weekend of the Spring and Fall dry season which will be continued in 1971.

We would like to thank the Red Phone operators for the excellent job they are doing. The telephone number 329-6952 is for reporting fires or emergencies ONLY, and not for general information which may cause a delay in the reporting of a fire or the saving of a life.

By the Board of Fire Engineers,

PAUL WENTWORTH (Chief)
ROBERT LETOILE

REPORT OF THE
FOREST FIRE WARDEN
& DISTRICT CHIEF

The first season of 1970 was not a quiet one in this area, on the contrary, it was a very busy time with some towns reporting a greater number of fires than in past years. This record is not good.

Both state and towns are striving to meet this challenge. Results show that we are not doing enough, we must do more in the matter of fire prevention education, a more active inspection program and a more prompt, complete investigation of fires where definite cause is not known with court action where the need is indicated.

We must insist that minor children are given needed supervision, this is a parent's responsibility.

Our gratitude to all who have helped in forest fire prevention and suppression this past year and we look forward to this continued help in our effort to improve our good prompt detection system and fast suppression action. This coupled with a good prevention program, will improve our fire record.

Follow these simple suggestions to help:

Set a good example for others by observing fire permit laws and regulations; take your debris and waste to the town dump; keep matches away from children and be sure your smoking material is dead out when discarded.

Number of fires reported and acres burned – 1970 season:

STATE	484 fires	244 acres
DISTRICT	189 fires	170 acres
TOWN	5 fires	4 acres

LIBRARY REPORT FOR 1970

This past year has shown a large increase in the number of summer residents who are making use of the library as well as townspeople from the East and West part of the town. Therefore I am pleased to report there were 6061 books in circulation last year, an increase of 478 books from the previous year.

The thrift shop was another great success this past summer under the fine supervision of Mrs. William Clark and Mrs. William Stack. The library staff certainly does appreciate the great work they are doing and many thanks go to them for the money given to the library.

People have been very generous in donating books, magazines and paperbacks. A great many of these books are on the "best sellers list". I regret that I am unable to print the names of the donors as they are too numerous to mention, but I do express my sincere thanks to them.

The State library are offering talking books for use to people who are unable to hold books or with impaired vision. Contact your local library if you wish any of these, without cost.

A wall to wall carpet has been laid this past year which makes the library much warmer and quieter. Mr. Scovel has had new book racks made for the table in the young peoples' room and one is being used for paperbacks. Window boxes are ready to be placed on front of the library in the spring.

Several donations of money have been given to the library this past year. Mr. Leon Mitchell gave a check for $50.00 to be used for books or anything we may need. Mrs. Mesa and friends on Tewksbury road had a lawn sale last summer and a little over $32.00 was raised for the library. Some anonymous donations were also received. To these people I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation.

A check from the State Library was received again this year to be used for reference books.

"A museum of early America tools" is the name of the book given in memory of Mr. Charles Brooks by Mr. & Mrs. John Sealey, Jr.

I wish to express my appreciation to the trustees for their fine co-operation and special thanks to Mrs. Kirkness, Mrs. Brough, Mrs. Stack and Mrs. Doersam for their assistance in cataloguing books.

A cordial welcome is extended to all to visit the library. The hours are 2-7 P.M. Tuesday and Saturday, Wednesday 7-9 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Providing for growth!!

This is paramount amont problems which the Hampstead School District faces in this school year.

The very basic and immediate facts are the district has acceptable space for 400 grade 1-8 pupils. There are more than 440 pupils enrolled now. It appeard that there will be 460 at the start of the next school year.

Further examination shows a definite trend toward annual increases in numbers amounting to from six to ten percent.

Provision for grade 9-12 pupils is assured for the next few years at the Pinkerton Academy in Derry, although increasing enrollments and tuition costs will result in substantial budget increases in the years ahead. The use of sub-standard classroom space at the old high school has been a satisfactory temporary solution to the grade 1-8 enrollment problems. But the solution is temporary and the classrooms must be termed sub-standard.

The problem of providing for growth remains the one standout, critical problem facing the district. There are others. No school district is without them but routine problems should not overshadwo accomplishment.

It should be noted that the Hampstead District is fortunate to have attracted and retained a high degree of professional preparation and competence as characterized in its faculty. Grade 1-6 children at the Central School have available to them, updated instructional material and equipment and the school is organized to provide varied experiences in the learning process. Provisions for grade 7 and 8 pupils fall short of acceptable standards, however, due principally to the absence of certified instructional capability in the areas of art, physical education, industrial arts and home economics. Programs in the proposed middle school would satisfy this need.

The Hampstead School Board, at the conclusion of the 1969-70 school year, realized a surplus of a little more than $13,000, which sum was largely instrumental in reducing the school tax rate for the current year. To be usre the absence of appreciable capital expenditure this year was an important factor too. Be that as it may, it is a remarkable feat for school boards, in an era of acute inflation, to effectively operate an instructional program meeting modern needs and requirements and at the tsame time deliver a lesser bill to its constituents.

But what of the problems of the future?

The climate surrounding public education in America is more uncertain than it has been for a long time. Attacks upon education have increased sharply and have come simultaneously from widely divergent groups with no common idea as to what the schools should be doing. While some demand a solution to student and teacher militancy problems and seek solutions to rising costs, others seek a system that is less rigid which probides more "individualization" and humanness. Some seek a greater ',relevance" to current American life while others insist upon a return to "basics" and rigid arbitrary standards of performance and discipline. These divisions in our society run deep and are accentuated by great differences in life styles. We are caused to become uncertain when confronted by the many segments of our society apprising us of the certainty of the true state of affairs and the only possible cure for our ills. Certainly we have problems of our own making and there is much that we must do to put out house in order, but it seems certain that current crises in our society transcend our performance in public schools.

How we react to crises will determine the extent to which the public school may retain its stature as a place of learning where students may develop a confidence in themselves and become meaningful contributors to the society in which they live. We have a responsibility to maintain an environment where differing values may be expressed and where mutual respect for the rights of others may be developed. We have a responsibility to competently proceed with educational reform without capitulating our authority as a public institution. We have a responsibility to evaluate criticixm carefully, from whatever source it comes, and to react to that which is valid and constructive. We must avoid "dancing to the tunes" of single groups, for to do so is to abandon our commitment to the true purpose of free public education.

No individual can accurately predict the nature of and solution to problems of the future. Out nation has used a democratic group process, cumbersome as it sometimes is, and problems as they may arise have been successfully confronted.

I have a great deal of confidence in our school staff to provide learning opportunities for students which will meet valid criteria of relevance not only for the student, but for the society he must serve. This confidence extends as well to the American community which through threatening times and placid times has met its collective obligation in support of public education.

It has been a special pleasure for me to have served the Hampstead community during the past year.

ROBERT J. CROMPTON

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL

To the School Board, Superintendent of Schools, and citizens of Hampstead:

As in the past this annual report will contain reports of the following special service personnel: Reading Coordinator, School Nurse, Music Supervisor, Guidance Counselor, and Speech Therapist.

School opened on September 9, 1970, with a total enrollment of 431 pupils, an increase of 21 pupils over last year's opening day figure.

The former high school building was again used to house two primary grade classes.

In the area of curriculum, the interest-centered activity program was continued in the junior high school classes.

Members of the teaching staff and volunteers from the community served as instructors.

In the third grade, a new approach to social studies and science instruction was instituted. An individualized activity technique was developed which was designed to offer the children a variety of high-interest activities. From these activities, the children chose those which were of particular interest to them. The activity resulted in projects and reports which were presented to the class or handed in to the teachers. The teachers served as resource people. Emphasis was placed on use of library sources and materials, and on directing the children to work together in small groups. Guest speakers were also invited to participate in the program. The program was well received by the children.

The teachers worked to modify and improve the program during the year. A consultant from the State Department of Education visited the classes and offered his suggestions.

A science curriculum committee was formed to review the science program.

A new mathematics program was introduced in grades one through five. A number of teachers used a small group approach to the teaching of mathematics.

In the language arts, more time was devoted to creative writing and other creative activities in many of the classes. In addition, a number of teachers used play reading and dramatics to good advantage as a means of developing oral language skills.

It is probably apparent from this brief description of the modifications which took place within the curriculum that much emphasis was placed on activities which were intended to appeal to the interests of the children. Also, more attention was focused upon the oral and written language skills as an avenue for creative expression on the part of the pupils.

Further changes and revisions will be made in the curriculum. Major consideration will continue to be given to the development of a curriculum which will be of interest to the children, have meaning for them, and a program in which they can involve themselves with pleasure and enthusiasm. Our objective is to make school a happy learning experience for all children.

Graduation exercises for the class of 1970 were held at St. Anne's Church on June 17. Mr. George Watson, school board member, presented diplomas to 46 graduates. Mr. Robert J. Crompton, Superintendent of Schools, was the featured speaker.

Open house was held during the week of October 25-31 in observance of American Education Week.

The school athletic program was comprised of soccer, baseball, and basketball for boys, and basketball and softball for girls.

The following standardized tests were administered during the year: Stanford Achievement tests, grades 4-6-8; Murphy-Durrell Readiness Test, grade 1; Otis-Lennon Mental Ability Test, grades 4-6-8. In addition, basal reading tests and a variety of individual diagnostic and grade placement tests were administered.

The annual New England Reading Conference was held in Manchester, New Hampshire. Mrs. Lois Goss, Mr. Robert Cortese, an;Mr. Richard Grey attended from the Central School.

Transportation was provided by the Timberlane Transportation Company. Milk was purchased from Chabot's Dairy, Somersworth, New Hampshire, and Diamond Dairy Farms, Salem, New Hampshire.

Physical examinations were administered by Dr. Raymond E. Moore and Dr. William R. Hart, assisted by Mrs. Genevieve Malik, school nurse, and severla volunteers.

Educational field trips were held for all grades. These trips were coordinated to relate to an area of study being conducted within the classrooms.

The staff of the Central School included the following positions: eighteen classroom teachers, two reading supervisors, nurse, music supervisor, guidance counselor, speech therapist, librarian, supervising principal, secretary, three teacher aides, two custodians, and a matron.

Funds for two of the teacher aide positions were provided by a federal grant under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Reports of special service personnel follow:

Reading Coordinator – Mrs. Lois Goss

"I feel very fortunate to have come into such an organized, systematic reading program as it is set up at the Central School. Much time and thought, with the children's needs in mind, have gone into the remedial program here.

Mrs. Zimmer and I together have been able to schedule thirteen classes each day with some children, because of their very specific needs, being taken on an individual basis. This is working out well with four of our children.

This year the second, third, and fourth grades have been using the Economy Phonics System. Our third grades have continued to use the individualized reading program and the fourth grade teachers have processed a number of books for their individualized reading program, which is now in progress one day each week. It is my hope that all grades will be able to benefit from such a program in the near future. Plans are being made to accomplish this goal.

A group of children in grades five and six have used the reading accelerator and have shown considerable improvement in their reading rate.

The Ginn Word Enrichment Program was purchased in levels one through seven and a series of Barnell Loft Reading Skills Books. Both of these items are for use in remedial reading and have proven to be most helpful.

The following formal tests were given this past year:

Metropolitan Reading Tests (for grade placement)	17
Doren Diagnostic Tests	23
Lyons-Carnahan Diagnostic Tests	17
Gates-MacGinitie Diagnostic Tests	12
The WISC Test	2

With intensive work by classriom teachers, aided by the remedial reading teachers, children have been able to advance to higher groupings in a number of cases.

At this time I would like to remark on the outstanding work that has been accomplished by Mrs. Charlotte Zimmer for the town of Hampstead. She has been of great help to me as well as the rest of the teaching staff. A gifted organizer, a dedicated educator, and truly a genuine person with a warmth for all – I feel most honored to be working with her this year.

May I extend my thanks to Mrs. Zimmer, Mr. Grey, and the staff for their cooperation."

School Nurse – Mrs. Genevieve Malik, R.N.

"The following school health services were provided in the past year:

1) Medical examinations on all pupils in grades 1-4-7, pupils new to the school, and any pupil participating in interscholastic sports, were done by the school physicians, Drs. Moore and Hart.

2) Screening tests for vision and hearing were done on all pupils in grades 1-2-4-6-8, pupils new to the school, and any pupil referred by parent, physician, or classroom teacher.

3) For an appraisal of physical growth, all pupils were weighed and measured.

4) Pupils of grade five and all new students above that grade were tested for color perception.

5) All first grade pupils were offered, and with permission, received a Heaf skin test for tuberculosis.

6) A clinic to administer vaccine against German measles will be held for all first graders and kindergarten children this year.

7) Pre-school registration was held in May. The guidance counselor, speech therapist, and dental hygienist were in attendance to see the children and discuss any problems with the parents.

8) Referrals to clinics and the Mental Health Assocation for students requiring this service.

The following health education programs were held: safety, dental care, nutrition, personal hygiene, menstruation, smoking, alcohol and drugs, first aid, and baby sitting guides.

I wish to thank parents, staff members, and friends of the Hampstead Central School for their interest in the health program and for their cooperation."

Music Supervisor – Mr. Bruce W. Hill

"Music in the Hampstead Central School is taking on a new perspective this year as it is all over the country. No longer are band and chorus considered part-time "clubs." They have evolved into full-time performing and learning organizations. Rehearsal time is not spent learning concert pieces by rote but, rather, learning music. Students learn how to read, write, understand, appreciate, and interpret musical notation. Songs are rehearsed for the experience of reading and for their musical value, not just to prepare for a public performance.

Students in grades one through eight have general music as a class once a week for twenty minutes. Each general music class is usually broken up into parts including listening to records, reading songs, writing rhythmic exercises, and creative activities. In addition, part of every music class in each grade has an area of concentration. These are: grade one, beginning rhythm instruments; grade two, intermediate rhythm instruments and notation; grade three, advanced rhythm instruments and introduction to band and orchestra instruments; grade four, flutophones and beginning band instruments; grade five, beginning part singing and band; grade six, part singing and band. Grades seven and eight general music classes are being re-evaluated at this writing.

All students learn to play the flutophone as a class in fourth grade, first semester. In the spring of that year they have an opportunity to study a band instrument. By fifth grade, they join the elementary band and by seventh grade they become members of the junior high band. At present all students in the fifth and sixth grades have one or two band classes each week plus a group lesson period for like instruments.

The junior high chorus is open to students in the seventh and eighth grades. Rehearsals are spent reading through all types of music including popular songs.

There is great potential for an active music program at Hampstead in future years. To develop this potential I will enlist the cooperation of the administration, teachers, and parents. It is necessary for all of these parties to encourage and assist the students in their musical endeavors. Eventually we hope to particiapte in exchange concerts, state and district music festivals, auditions, more local concerts, parades, and listening to professional musicians.

Naturally, it takes time, perhaps years to build a good music program. We hope parents will bear with us through the building period and I look forward to meeting all of you personally."

Counselor – Mr. Robert C. Bender

"The guidance and counseling division at Hampstead Central School is headed by a new counselor this year. Along with a change in personnel there invariably comes a change in the program and services. The main goal of this division is to assist and promote the positive social, emotional, and psychological growth and development of all students. Unfortunately there has developed an attitude toward counselors that implies that a visit to one necessarily means that the visitor has a ',problem" or is in some kind of difficulty. While these kind of children will seek out the counselor and be sought out by the counselor, they by no means are the only students seen by the counselor. A school counselor is primarily concerned with the normal, healthy child. He is preventive rather than rehabilitative.

The functions of the counselor can be broken down into three main categories. The most important and time consuming of these is the face-to-face communications with students. Often these have taken the form of investigative ventures to ',check out" the new counselor, but for the most part significant counseling with definite goals in mind. The goals of counseling may differ in specifics from child to child, but they are also similar since a "responsibly independent" person is the aim.

Counseling sessions generally last one-half hour and may be held on an individual basis or in groups with as many as six students involved. The participants may sit in a circle and just talk or (especially with younger children) sit on the floor and play while talking.

The second important function served by the counselor is consultation with teachers, parents, and other professional people. The most effective way to be of assistance to the school is to improve the classroom atmosphere so that the learning process is enhanced. It is recognized that while a student may behave quite well in a counseling session he or she will not necessarily behave the same way in the classroom or on the playground. For this reason the counselor makes it a point to try and talk with teachers frequently and to visit the classroom on some occasions to get a first-hand view of how the child functions.

While most of the consultation is made with teachers it is also necessary or helpful to talk with and meet parents concerning the growth of their children. It is possible that a significant contribution can be made to the home life as well as the school life. There are also occasions when the counselor will consult with other professionals such as psychologists, doctors, the school nurse, the remedial reading teachers, or the speech therapist.

The third major function of the counselor is that of coordinating the efforts of the school (and possibly an outside agency) to assist the students. Because the counselor is concerned with personal growth he is in a unique position to assess the effects of the school efforts.

Counseling is a new service at the elementary level but it is growing rapidly. Obviously you cannot become very familiar with either the counselor or his functions merely by reading this report. You are encouraged to call or visit the school at any time if you have further questions or if you are interested in just getting better acquainted."

Speech Therapist – Mr. Vincent Marchand

"This is my fourth annual report as speech therapist at Hampstead Central School. A speech screening test was given this fall to the children new to the Central School and all children enrolled in the second grade.

The basic aim of the speech program was to help all children with speech defects to correct their speech through individual or group speech sessions. Various speech problems are classified as articulation, stuttering, delayed speech, and emotional problems.

The program is only helpful to the child provided that he regularly attends the classes, and he does the speech assignments nightly. Parent conferences are needed at times to reinforce the goals of the program for the child.

The therapist used the music room for speech classes. The equipment used in the program includes: tape recorder, record player, workbooks, and various arts and crafts materials. The students obtain pictures for notebooks from discarded magazines.

I would like to thank the Superintendent, Mr. Grey, the school nurse, and teaching staff here at the Central School for their continued support of the speech program."

To conclude, I would again like to extend my appreciation to the Superintendent of Schools, school board members, and Union office personnel for their continued assistance and cooperation.

To all members of the school staff, professional and non-professional, recognition is given for their role in the total functioning of the school.

I would like to concur with Mrs. Goss' reaction to working with Mrs. Charlotte T. Zimmer. It has been my pleasure to have worked with Mrs. Zimmer for a number of years. Her interest in children, concern for their needs, and the warmth and enthusiasm with which she approached her job, far exceeded any possible expectations. Her friendliness and sincerity will be missed here at Central School.

On behalf of the children and staff, may I wish Mrs. Zimmer many many years of happiness as she begins her retirement at the end of the current school year. Her contribution to the Hampstead Central School will not be forgotten.

Finally, warmest appreciation is extended to the many parents and friends of the school who have given so generously of their time and energies to help with countless activities within the school program. Thank you very much for all that you have done.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD GREY
Supervising Principal

BUDGET SUMMARY

The following report summarizes the School District expenses for last year, the current operating budget and the School Board's estimate of expenses for the 1971-1972 school year. It must be taken into consideration that monies appropriated in the month of March, to be used in the following year, do not necessarily correspond in individual items, because of the impossibility of projecting the rising price indexes twelve months hence.
